

Business panel to 'teach' pupils

The Business and Industrial Coordinating Council of Newark announced yesterday it will take part in a summer project to provide a group of fifth grade pupils with an insight into business.

The project will be an extension of a program begun last summer by William Roemer, a Sussex Avenue School teacher, whose class formed a corporation and sold product.

This summer, the will get a first-hand look at the operations of trial and commerce that in council.

Rocco said yesterday and girls all store to "to wter's"

The fifth grade class incorporated last year the Room old sha- to raise elect ch-

THE EVENING NEWS
Newark, N.J., Tuesday, May 18, 1971

Study Finds Bias in Hiring BICC To Expand Training

By EILEEN PEARSON
A study by the Business and Industrial Coordinating Council of Newark of hiring procedures in the Greater Newark area shows that minorities have been discriminated against by employers.

The study shows that hiring procedures in the Greater Newark area are biased against minorities. The study was conducted by the Business and Industrial Coordinating Council of Newark, which is a joint effort of the Newark Board of Education and the Newark Board of Economic Development.

The study shows that hiring procedures in the Greater Newark area are biased against minorities. The study was conducted by the Business and Industrial Coordinating Council of Newark, which is a joint effort of the Newark Board of Education and the Newark Board of Economic Development.

NEWARK SUNDAY NEWS
May 23, 1971

Move to Upgrade Minority Hiring

The Business and Industrial Coordinating Council has begun working with local firms to improve their recruitment and training of blacks and Puerto Ricans.

Roland E. Stewart, executive director of the independent agency, said teams of council representatives have visited a bank, an insurance company and other businesses to review their practices.

The teams review the companies' compliance with civil rights laws, and suggest ways that minority workers can be hired and upgraded. The council, with headquarters at 46 Branford Place, Newark, will also assist firms with civil rights problems.

Unchanged

• Tests used by schools to test the aptitudes of pupils are unchanged.

• The executive director of the Business and Industrial Coordinating Council said yesterday that tests for employment that are realistic.

BICC's 'super clerk' computer proving worthy in program

The executive committee of the Business and Industrial Coordinating Council, 46 Branford Pl., Newark, N.J., passed a resolution at the BICC once again to develop and coordinate clerical training programs with business firms.

Mr. Wolt praised the computer match as a selection process for obtaining potentially successful candidates.

Mrs. Ruth McClain, community co-chairman expressed optimism over the BICC's re-entry into clerical satellite training as a sincere attempt by business and industry in meeting some of the community's needs.

She insisted that BICC has historically sponsored sound and successful situations.

The BICC is receiving a great deal of requests for more sponsored programs and universities.

The BICC is receiving a great deal of requests for more sponsored programs and universities.

The BICC is receiving a great deal of requests for more sponsored programs and universities.

and in need of upgrading. Mr. Wolt praised the computer match as a selection process for obtaining potentially successful candidates.

Mrs. Ruth McClain, community co-chairman expressed optimism over the BICC's re-entry into clerical satellite training as a sincere attempt by business and industry in meeting some of the community's needs.

She insisted that BICC has historically sponsored sound and successful situations.

The BICC is receiving a great deal of requests for more sponsored programs and universities.

The BICC is receiving a great deal of requests for more sponsored programs and universities.

The BICC is receiving a great deal of requests for more sponsored programs and universities.

The BICC is receiving a great deal of requests for more sponsored programs and universities.

The BICC is receiving a great deal of requests for more sponsored programs and universities.

BICC to Discuss School Strike

The Newark school strike will be discussed at the Newark Board of Education meeting on Tuesday.

The Newark Board of Education will discuss the school strike at its meeting on Tuesday.

The Newark Board of Education will discuss the school strike at its meeting on Tuesday.

The Newark Board of Education will discuss the school strike at its meeting on Tuesday.

what BICC is about

• The BICC is a joint effort of the Newark Board of Education and the Newark Board of Economic Development.

• The BICC is a joint effort of the Newark Board of Education and the Newark Board of Economic Development.

• The BICC is a joint effort of the Newark Board of Education and the Newark Board of Economic Development.

• The BICC is a joint effort of the Newark Board of Education and the Newark Board of Economic Development.

• The BICC is a joint effort of the Newark Board of Education and the Newark Board of Economic Development.

• The BICC is a joint effort of the Newark Board of Education and the Newark Board of Economic Development.

• The BICC is a joint effort of the Newark Board of Education and the Newark Board of Economic Development.

• The BICC is a joint effort of the Newark Board of Education and the Newark Board of Economic Development.